Glancing Over World Events

Will Not be Embroiled

All the political leaders in Canada are against Canadian participation in the Eastern embroglio. No doubt all of them are sympathetic with the efforts being made at Geneva to compel Italy to lay off Ethiopia, but none of them could afford to follow sympathy with military backing. They all take the stand which Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen took in his famous Hamilton speech which met with so much opposition at the time, viz. that the government would not commit the country to a foreign war except with the expressed consent of the Canadian people.

Two Major Parties

It is essential to intelligent disputation to know what the dispute is about. The reason why there are so many parties in this election is that the electors can see no difference between the Liberal and Conservative party, and the reason why they can see no difference is that there is but little. For years the battle between them has centered over the question of tariffs but the election over, the policy remained the same. A free-trader once defined the difference in this way: "The Conservative are true to false principles; the Liberals false to true principles."

Equality Not Natural

Nature knows nothing of equality, says a well-known author. Quite true. Some men are superior to others in physique, capacity and mentality. Some horses are better than others, some cows, sheep and pigs; some trees, some flowers, some shrubs, some grains. Stockbreeders, horticulturists, agriculturists, floriculturists study and strive to make them better still. Men and women study and strive to improve themselves and their condition. If Communism should succeed in levelling all it would be only for a moment. The first to emerge above the financial level would be the Reds who grabbed more than their share. After that the peaks would be the fit, the industrious, the able, the efficient, the thrifty. 'Twas ever thus; 'twill ever be.

Faith and Works

The Dean of Canterbury is a convinced exponent of Douglas Credit and when Alberta endorsed a similar system he bought Alberta bonds. The Dean may not be a greater authority on finance than many financiers have proved to be, but when he believes in a thing, he takes the proper way to exemplify his faith. If he finds in the end he has been mistaken the financiers cannot jeer at him. They have been mistaken often enough themselves.

JOS. C. SMITH DIES

Came to Vulcan in 1917; Resident in Town Since 1928; Funeral Service Held Monday

Joseph Cornelius Smith, an old timer of the district and a resident of Vulcan, died suddenly on Friday evening following a lengthy illness. He was 76 years, 6 months and 10 days of age. Mr. Smith came to the territory in 1917, taking up farming lands near the town. He farmed here until 1926. At that time he was forced to give up the work due to poor health and seek the lower altitude and warmer climate of the Pacific Coast. In the winter of 1928 he returned, taking up residence in town, where he had since resided.

Mr. Smith was born at Collingwood, Ontario. His parents were among the early pioneers of Essex County, Ontario. He is survived by two brothers, George of Vulcan and John H. of Calgary, and one sister, Mrs. Lydia McFadden who resides in Ontario.

Funeral services for the late J. C. Smith were held from the Vulcan United Church, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. P. G. McPherson. Interment was made in the Vulcan cemetery under direction of Snodgrass Funeral Home. Tom Robson, Harry Adams, J. N. Johnston, Jack McFadden and C. B. Shimp acted as pallbearers.

E. G. Hansell Speaks at Vulcan Meeting

Social Credit Candidate Contends that Tariffs and Free Trade Secondary Issue in Election Fight.

On Monday evening, in the Vulcan theatre, Ernest G. Hansell, Social Credit candidate in the Macleod federal constituency, addressed a meeting of electors. Guest speaker for the evening was Rev. Peter Dawson, M. L. A. John Scobbie was chairman. About 140 attended the meeting.

Mr. Dawson, who spoke first, thanked all the Vulcan voters for their support at the provincial polls. He gave the official report of the Vulcan poll as being: Dawson 248; McPherson 110, and Stack 119. Interest in Social Credit was not waning, he declared. Speaking of the Social Credit victory, he gave the following reasons as to why the movement was placed in power: the dynamic personality of Wm. Aberhart, instilling zeal and determination; the organization behind the movement; and the desire to give youth a chance. Mr. Dawson claimed that at the present time Italy was seeking to blast her way into Ethiopian markets by use of gunpowder when such a thing could be avoided by Social Credit. He suggested in such case that the shareholders in army munitions be put in the front line. In concluding, he appealed to the voters to mark their ballots for Mr. Hansell, for he is a 100 per cent. Social Credit candidate.

In opening his address, Rev. Hansell apologized for not being able to personally visit all the constituency, this being impossible due to the size of the territory. He defined the issue of the present election campaign as one of principal, not persons. The present system is obsolete and not able to meet the demands of a highly productive age, he claimed. "We are not in a business depression, but in a blockade—a short-circuiting of laws of progress as they should co-operate one with the other." According to the speaker the present system was originated by Adam Smith some 200 years ago and designed for an age of scarcity. "Now we are in an age when we need a new economic science to fit the highly productive era."

Labor should be taken from the back of humanity and put on machines, said the speaker. Make the machines work for man and give man the benefit with a basic or national dividend. Unemployment was a mark of progress, he claimed. He scored Prime Minister Bennett for saying that the way to cure unemployment was to create jobs for those who have not any. He criticized the old line parties from the standpoint of whether or not they savor of the old age or a new economic system. He contended that tariffs and free trade were secondary issues in the campaign.

Remarking on the Social Credit convention, when he had been chosen as candidate, he said that the gathering had been against affiliating with G. G. Coote because he was not a 100 per cent. Social Credit. Mr. Hansell conceded Mr. Coote's fighting for monetary reform, but said that he was unable to accomplish anything because of the smallness of number of members supporting him.

In concluding his address, Mr. Hansell said, "We do not expect that the Federal government will be Social Credit. I do not believe candidates are standing with the purpose of introducing Social Credit into the Dominion. We, in this Federal election, wish to elect one solid block of say from 30 to 40 Social Credit members to protect the welfare of Western Canada in general and the newly elected Social Credit government in Alberta in particular. We need to solidify the steps we have already taken when we elected Social Credit into Alberta. As Premier William Aberhart said on his Eastern tour: 'We want Federal candidates in the field—the next government may want to fool us.' Our victory must be securing the necessities of life for everyone. The fight will commence with the election."

J. W. MATTHEWSON Conservative Candidate VISITS AT VULCAN

J. W. Matthewson of High River, Conservative candidate for Macleod Federal constituency, was a Vulcan and district visitor on Friday and Saturday last week. During his stay he was in conference with local Conservatives and visited as many of the electors in the territory as was possible. It was the intentions of Mr. Matthewson to hold a public meeting on Friday evening in Vulcan, but both halls in town were in use for that evening and the meeting engagement had to be cancelled. His meeting itinerary takes him to the south of the riding all this week and no other meeting date can be arranged in Vulcan before election day. However, the electors of this community will have the opportunity of hearing Mr. Matthewson from radio station C F C N.

FOUR NOMINATED MACLEOD RIDING

Nomination day in Macleod Federal riding brings four candidates to contest for election on October 14. These are George Gibson Coote (U. F. A.) farmer, official agent, H. F. Spencer, Parkland; Ernest George Hansell (Social Credit), clergyman, official agent, J. B. Morley, Vulcan; John Walter Matthewson (Conservative) merchant and agriculturist, official agent, J. S. Hunt, High River; Frank Oleskes McKenna (Liberal) barrister, official agent Neil Nicholson, Cowley.

Mr. G. G. Coote has represented this riding since 1921, and this is the first four cornered fight in which he has been engaged since 1921. In the past two elections he has been opposed by Conservatives only.

Since the 1930 election, the constituency boundaries have been extended, and there are now 22,000 voters in the constituency. In the 1930 election there were 18,845 voters enrolled of whom 13,093 voted.

With five major political parties contesting for power in the coming federal election, nominations are unprecedented. There will be an average of four candidates for almost all of the 245 ridings. The main contestants are Conservatives, Liberals, Co-operative Commonwealth, Stevens Reconstructionists and Social Credit. In addition there will be occasional Independents, Labor, Communist and Technocrats.

Hockey Prospects Considered By Vulcan Sport Fans

With the excitement of the world's baseball championship series past, the sport fans of the Vulcan district are turning their attention to the coming season of Canada's national sport—hockey. That Vulcan will place a hockey team on the ice this season is practically assured, as it is for the coming seven seasons, for the Vulcan Elks' lodge has a ten year franchise on the Vulcan arena for the purpose of staging hockey matches. The calibre of team that will carry the Elks' colors this winter season is not known at this time. It has been suggested by numerous fans that the sponsors of the team confine themselves to the development of town and district talent by hiring an excellent coach, instead of importing outside players that eventually cost more than three or four coaches. With the instruction of a good coach, the hockey talent presented by the youngsters here last season would develop into a puck chasing machine that would take any team bolstered with important players "to the cleaners" within a year or two. Of course this would mean a slower class of hockey for a while with a probable drop in gate receipts that are the life of any sport organization. Yet there is no reason why the community as a whole should not back such a team to the fullest extent with financial support by attending every match. If this situation develops it is certainly worthy of support.

At the conclusion of last year's hockey there was some talk of the locals seeking senior recognition this winter. It is doubtful that this will happen for it would certainly mean importing an outside team for a survey of the district gives little hope for the rounding up of a team of senior calibre. Speaking of the hockey situation our contemporary The Claresholm Local Press, says: "Vulcan really has a kick coming. For two seasons consecutively, she has opened the circuit with teams thoroughly conditioned, while most of the other league teams hardly fit to take the ice till the season's half over. Both seasons Vulcan built up a winning streak early in the league, only to go stale and meet other teams at their peak in the finals." This certainly is the situation as the past presented itself to the hockey fans of Vulcan. The future is unpredictable—but the fans are hoping for developments that will eventually lead to the best possible team that local material will bring.

Liberal Candidate Addresses Electors

Claim That Liberal Party Stands for Interests of Common People While Conservatives Stand Behind Big Interests

F. O. McKenna, Liberal candidate in the Macleod federal constituency, and Senator Buchanan of Lethbridge, were speakers at a meeting held in Vulcan at the theatre on Thursday evening last in the interests of the Liberal party. L. H. Stack, K.C., prominent local Liberal, was chairman of the meeting. The meeting was poorly attended.

Mr. McKenna quoted statistics at length showing the contrast between the low tariffs of Liberal policy and the high tariffs of the Conservative administration. He contrasted the prices of goods in United States and Canada to illustrate the difference in tariff and free trade. The Liberal policies of free trade and low tariffs would result in Canada exporting more goods thus giving more work to more people, said the speaker.

He deplored the Conservative policy of high tariffs for protection, saying that the Liberal party stood for the interests of the common people, while the Conservatives protected the big interests. Conservatives in power meant depression; Liberals in power meant prosperity, he said. "The Liberals stand on their record of bringing prosperity when in power," Mr. McKenna told his audience.

He claimed that it was only possible for one of two parties to get a majority in the Dominion election and get into power, either the Liberals or the Conservatives.

Before introducing Senator Buchanan to the gathering, Mr. Stack warned the electors against voting Social Credit. He cited the instance of Premier William Aberhart saying "We will never go out of the province for money." And then his going to Ottawa to borrow 18 millions and soliciting the support and financial aid for his property. Mr. Stack said that this constituency should have a member in the government in power to get us the improvements we need. Having a member in the opposition side of the House would get us nothing. Following his short talk, he introduced Senator Wm. Buchanan of Lethbridge.

If Social Credit is a success it will spread all over the world like wildfire said Senator Buchanan. He claimed that Social Credit members at Ottawa will not help the party as Premier Wm. Aberhart is already being given a free hand with the introduction of the system in Alberta. The speaker hit at Prime Minister Bennett for adopting the Liberal policy of reciprocity with United States after opposing it for many years. He played up this reciprocity angle very strongly in the course of his address, saying that the Liberals, if placed in power, would quickly negotiate a treaty with the United States.

"Find markets for Canadian wheat by reciprocity thereby putting purchasing power in the hands of the farmers, thus bringing back prosperity," said the speaker. Speaking of the new Reconstruction party, he claimed that Mr. Stevens, the leader of the new group, would never have left the Conservative party, if Mr. Bennett had retired and he had realized his ambition to become the leader of that party.

Mr. Buchanan touched on the various planks of the Liberal platform before concluding. The Liberals were not making any rash promises, he said.

Of special interest to all U.F.W.A. locals in the Macleod constituency is the West conference to be held in High River on Saturday, October 12th, commencing at 10 a.m. The High River U.F.W.A. will be hosts for the affair. Many interesting speakers and outstanding musical numbers are being arranged for. G.G. Coote, M.P. will address the evening session.

Town Property Re-possessed by Former Owner

Transact Routine Business at October Session on Monday Evening; Elevator Road Will Not be Repaired Until Next Year

Monday evening was the regular meeting night for the council of the Town of Vulcan. Mayor King was in the chair and all councillors were present.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Shimp were present and interviewed the council with regard to property on lots 23 and 24, block 2, taken over by the council for arrears of taxes. Two types of offers were made for the property, one for the purchase for $1,000 cash, the other for $300.00 cash and $900.00 to be paid over a period of three years, two payments of $150.00 semi-annually at the rate of interest at 6 per cent. An offer for purchase was received from C. Johnston on the latter terms.

Mr. Shimp offered to make the same arrangement. It was recommended that C. B. Shimp be given the preference. It was moved and carried unanimously that the offer of C. B. Shimp be accepted on payment of $300.00 and balance of $900 over three years. It was decided that C.B. Shimp carry a fire insurance policy of $1,000 on the property in favor of the Town of Vulcan until such time that indebtedness is paid off. It was decided to discount the 6 per cent. on the payments for the Shimp property providing that payments were made when due.

The council was advised that the liability insurance had been renewed on the skating rink property. Routine and relief accounts were read by secretary A. J. Flood. It was moved by Councillor Allan that the accounts be allowed. Carried. Two indigent accounts for doctor's care were questioned and held over until the next meeting.

The milk report was read from the Foothills Health Unit. Statement of receipts and payments for the month of September. The secretary reported that a cheque had been sent to the asphalt company for their account, less amount for the use of team. A letter was read from the company asking for the balance, as they understood that the use of the team was gratis if they paid the teamster's wages. The secretary was instructed to write the company with regard to a misunderstanding re the price of laying the crossings. The council was under the impression that the price was to be $2.00 per square yard, while the company charged $2.60.

Communication was read from the department of public works saying that no grader was on hand for use of repairing the elevator road at present time. The council decided to wait until next year to make the necessary repairs to this road.

Moved by Councillor Allan that the skating arena roof be repaired. Carried.

It was decided to have Townsman Weale check over the wooden sidewalks for loose and broken planks. It was decided to bank the retaining walls of the asphalt sidewalks.

The offer of Sutherland Brothers to pay off arrears of taxes on the Johnston Service Station property, which they have purchased, at $6.25 per month was considered satisfactory by the council.

The meeting adjourned.

Groups of the Ladies' Aid will meet on Thursday, October 17th at the following homes: group 1, home of Mrs. A. J. Maisey; group 2, home of Mrs. Lorne Leverington; group 3, home of Mrs. Wm. Jamison; group 4, home of Mrs. Wayne Ransom. Members of the various groups are asked to attend their respective meeting.

NO TOUCH OF COLOR

We have in truth fallen upon drab days. Under the terms of the new Dominion Elections Act, no person shall for any reason, carry or wear any ensign, set of colors, badge or political party ribbon or any like favor indicating party allegiance, on election day, or within eight days before election day. The penalty for violation may be $2000, or must not exceed the modest term of two years' imprisonment, with or without hard labor.

One may be excused for heaving a sentimental sigh for the good old days when elections were elections, ablaze with color and emblems and dashing action, ranking honorably with the Irishmen's picnic and the county fair, in point of excitement. Everyone caught the thrill, down to the smallest school child. The family ribbon box was rifled to yield up a red or blue as he was Grit or Tory. Colors were pinned to every bosom. It was a day riotous with new neckties, new hats, flashing slogans and banners, a day when good little Tories lined up on one side of the school yard and good little Grits on the other, and verbal and fist combat reached high levels.

Even the family cats and the family dogs were bedecked and anyone with a good sea-going memory, can recall the prancing teams, shined up for the day, manes and tails all braided with red or blue, dashing down the concessions after the bed-ridden or recalcitrant voters. And everyone can recall the old pussyfooters confronted with the awful spectacle of a blue team and a red team parked in the yard at the same moment. Those were the days when the only thoroughly despised person was the one who did not quite know which side to vote for—thoroughly despised, but none the less the object of great solicitude for a brief span.

Gone are those forthright husky days! Now no man must know by sign or token, how another man is lined up. For eight days before election—and what a time there must have been in arriving at that specific period—no one must tell the world by flags or badges what he is going to do on the Last Great Day. Or off to the rock pile he goes.

One cannot but feel that a great opportunity has been lost to make this election a veritable explosion of color. With all the parties at present in the field, all the colors of the rainbow would have been brought to earth to bedazzle our dull lives.

As it is, nobody is going to know anything about anybody. And to avoid all unpleasant possibilities it would be just as well to stick to a straight ensemble of black or white for eight days prior to the election and on election day.

ECONOMIC PENALTIES

Whatever the failure or success of the League of Nations maybe in regard to warring countries, there is no question that the advocacy of economic penalties has brought a new corrective into play. If all major nations could be induced to withdraw trade relations, financial help and armament supplies from an aggressor nation, any war would be short-lived and humiliating. Such action would probably be much more decisive and less costly than the assembling of troops.

Hitherto, all disciplinary action has been at the cost of the soldiers in the field, and the homes of the masses. Industry has waxed fat with the profits of increased trade, and financial magnates have sprung up overnight. In the imposition of economic penalties, to enforce peace, it would be armament makers and other producers of supplies who would be called upon to make the big sacrifice in the main.

It is the usual alternative of human lives or money, and the financial interests have a tremendous power over governments. There is in the present world situation, an opportunity for nations to prove whether or not they are prepared to refrain from trade in order to safeguard life. It will not be an easy decision. In each nation are powerful interests and industries, conducting an international campaign for promotion of war. It matters nothing to them who the combatants may be, nor the principles involved, so long as their factory wheels turn faster. Any restrictive measures taken by a government, would reduce their output and profits. Are these powers stronger than the governments? Can they prevent their governments from employing sanctions?

Any nation which will not subscribe to the pact for the enforcement of economic penalties, is betraying the youth of the world. It is admitting that the lives of the many are of little importance as against the wealth of the few.

Britain's stand in support of the Ideals of the League has been an example to the world. If United States can be persuaded to take the economic action which Britain is prepared to do, it would give pause to all nations. But only through the active alliance of all major powers can the effectiveness of economic "boycotting" be proved.

SOCIAL SECURITY

In view of the Canadian Unemployment Insurance Act, and the trend toward social security in reduction of age limit for old age pensions, in mothers' allowances and so on, the Social Security measure of the Roosevelt administration is worth noting. It offsets the extravagant proposals of Dr. Townsend, Upton Sinclair and Huey Long, all of whom could dispense more than the country actually produces. It calls for joint operation by the State and the federal government.

There are thirty-three of the states already operating old age pension laws. The federal government will equal the state pension up to $15 a month, and thus provides up to $30 a month for pensions in contributing states. Statistics say that 700,000 men and women over 65 years of age were receiving emergency relief, and of all people over sixty-five, one half are dependent upon others for support. The assistance of the Federal Government is expected to encourage the institution of old age pensions throughout almost all the states.

Unemployment insurance is included in the Social Security measure. Employees eligible will be taxed from 1 per cent. to 3 per cent. of their earnings to provide reserve. The federal government will levy a 1 per cent. tax on payrolls in 1936, 2 per cent. in 1937 and 3 per cent. in 1938 and after. Any employer who contributes to a state fund is practically exempt from federal taxation. There are certain classes of workers, as there are in Canada, who do not come under the state or federal unemployment insurance scheme.

TOO MUCH LEARNING

Newspaper work is never static. Those names and places which have been memorized so painstakingly last year, are quite likely to be dead news today. No sooner does the staff of a newspaper familiarize itself with the names of cabinet ministers, of political leaders in other countries or with the strategic points on the world's map, than governments change or the scenes of international dispute are shifted. The knowledge of yesteryear has to be filed away for casual recollection, or forgotten, and a whole new set of facts, figures, names and places assembled for ready use.

It is in the fast moving city offices that the demand for quick pick-up is necessary, and the Victoria Colonist gives voice to a lament over the kaleidoscopic modern scene.

The editor thinks it is too much, particularly for anyone whose memory is not agile and tenacious. He looks across the mountains at the new government in Edmonton and wails:

"The point which concerns newspapermen is that in the new government of Alberta there will be many new names most of them unknown outside of Alberta. The task of newspapermen will be to memorize those names and never make mistakes in printing them."

"Down in Ottawa an old government is being reconstructed, and there will be some more names for editors and others to memorize. Some of the names are French, and spelling enters the list of difficulties."

"But those are trivial things. They are talking of starting a war in Africa, and there are people who would like to see a probable war on the Dark Continent extended to the illuminated continent of Europe. Most of us know the family name of the Lion of Judah and the surname of Mussolini, but what of the names of the places in Africa where the armies will operate and of the generals who will direct or misdirect the campaign?"

"The question is, will editors survive?"

ARE FARMS TOO BIG

"What big farms people have out here! Do they need all that land?" This is a comment made so frequently by visitors to this district, that it is hard to ignore it.

When people from more thickly populated areas visit the West, they view the sparse settlement and the immense farms not so much with admiration, as with doubt. If the land is as fertile as claimed, and it apparently is, why should any man desire such great acreage, they ask. Why burden himself with the great taxation involved, and the heavy losses entailed in poor crop years? In short why multiply his troubles!

These visitors, rightly or wrongly, think the district generally, and consequently the province and dominion, would be much better off if there were smaller acreages and more homes. A larger population would lighten the burden of taxes for individuals. It would probably result in more mixed farming, and probably also in better farming.

Although the motor car has greatly reduced distances, one can realize that this country could never impress visitors by its "homeyness." While there are many attractive rural homes, they are for the most part far apart, and quite a proportion of the places give the impression of being merely temporary dwelling places, rather than a beloved and cared for permanency.

More people and smaller farms would undoubtedly stimulate town business, and would lead to better facilities available in the town. It would also make possible more rural advantages. The larger population would bring a greater need for all manner of farm produce.

Those who are convinced that one of our problems is too much land with too few people on it, see value in General Hornby's Settlement scheme. They believe that his plan for purchasing land in areas already settled, and bringing larger population to the country at no cost to the Dominion, has great practical merit. It would stimulate every line of industry, and it would also within narrow spheres stimulate community life and business in the areas selected under the plan.

AN UNUSUAL DEAN

One of the interesting visitors to Alberta at present is Dr. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury. In its Left Hand Corner, the Lethbridge Herald has copied a little story of the Dean as written for the Regina Post by a Saskatchewan lady who visited him in England.

She says: "What gives him 'a good press' and makes dignitaries turn in their sleep, is that he so continually does those Things a Dean Ought Not to Do such as greeting far, far too fraternally Gandhi or the Salvation Army, or getting right out after first-hand information on modern conditions. By inviting the former to the deanery he caused a furore of comment, as Gandhi is admitted to be simultaneously a troubler of Empire and, to his own people, the voice of God. To approve tacitly that, the Salvation Army is doing vigorously work which lay open to the church for generations is correct, but to welcome the leaders effusively is 'not done' except by royalty."

"He was refused a passport into Russia by the Soviet. He promptly took a long holiday in China, fully recounted in The Times, and caused utmost anxiety to the authorities by his determination to penetrate the bandit-ridden interior. Perhaps that characteristic is the one the Soviet mistrusted. For Dr. Johnson has brains. He took an engineering degree before entering the church, and belongs to a family concerned in industrial works. He has two brothers running a wire factory in Montreal and another the parent works near Manchester."

"Now he has turned to Social Credit."

"He showed me with keen appreciation a large model of a fully rigged vessel, presented to him by the Grenfell mission. He was hoping to be allowed to suspend it in chains from the vaulting of the cathedral as is hung the saddle, etc., of the Black Prince, considering this ship to be a concrete symbol of one of the best Christian works of today."

"He will return to the Old Country remarkably well informed as to our conditions. I was on tiptoe to answer his incisive queries about the Dominion. Such a change from the average Englishman (or woman) who hurriedly remarks on our snow, then after a long pause for frantic search of his memory for further data, says in a relieved tone 'I expect you have met Bill's brother, he's out there er—er—Toronto I fancy, anyhow somewhere in—er Saskatchewan I think you said?'"

"Dr. Johnson on the contrary, is a live wire."

Public Record of J. W. Matthewson

Mr. J. W. Matthewson of High River, Conservative candidate for Macleod Federal constituency in the coming election, has had twenty-five years of public service in Western Canada. Born in Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, in 1882, he is the son of the late Captain James Matthewson of Edinburgh and the late Jessie Whyte Matthewson of Perth, Scotland. He was educated at Christ Church school and Skerry's College, England.

Twenty-five years ago, Mr. Matthewson migrated to Canada, selecting Strasburg, Saskatchewan as a promising location for a mercantile business. In the course of succeeding years he also made extensive purchases of land in Saskatchewan. It was in 1924 that Matthewson Brothers (James and John) purchased the Laidlaw departmental store in High River.

From the time of his arrival in the West, Mr. Matthewson has entered actively into public life. He is president of the High River Board of Trade, a position which he has filled very efficiently for the past two years. During his period of residence in High River he has taken a keen interest in and made helpful contributions to civic, sport, church and community welfare. He is an Anglican and a member of the Grand Lodge A. F. and A.M., Province of Saskatchewan.

While a resident of the province of Saskatchewan, he was honored with the confidence of his fellow citizens by appointment to the following positions: Mayor of the town of Strasburg; president of Strasburg Board of Trade; honorary president British Empire Service League; president of Last Mountain Federal Constituency Conservative Association; Conservative candidate in 1925 for Last Mountain Federal constituency; executive member Liberal-Conservative Association, Province of Saskatchewan; executive member Saskatchewan Curling Association. As provincial director of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, Mr. Matthewson made an extensive study of wheat marketing in Canada, United States and European countries in the years 1923-24. In 1924 he submitted to the first permanent board of directors of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, his policy and ideas respecting the marketing of wheat for the benefit of the grower. This plan regrettably was not accepted, but embodied in its recommendations many of the fundamental principles of wheat marketing, so beneficial to the interests of the grower and which are now the salient features of the Canadian Wheat Board legislation, recently enacted by the Bennett government.

To these responsible offices which he has filled, may be added his appointment as Justice of the Peace of Saskatchewan in 1914, under a Liberal government, a post which he held continuously since that time until 1934.

The wide and varied experience and knowledge acquired in the discharge of these duties and fulfillment of office, are necessary qualifications for the position which he now seeks as member supporting the policies of the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett.

HIGHLAND SOCIAL CREDIT GROUP REORGANIZE

Highland Social Credit group held a meeting during the evening of Friday, October 4th, to re-organize for the coming six months. New officers elected were: president, Mrs. D. O. Jantzie; vice-president, E. Glower; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. Glower; social committee, Dale Graham, Evelyn Phillips, Marjory Kher, Miss Reid Harry Graham and Stanley Kher. It was decided to hold two meetings each month, one a business meeting and study period at which subjects of economic and financial interest would be discussed, and the other a short business session followed by a social evening. The next meeting will be held on October 25th. This gathering will take the form of a Halloween party. All are welcomed to attend the meetings.

TAX COLLECTIONS STILL REMAIN SLOW

Payments Present Drain on Balance; Balance at September 30th, Was $7,828.12

Presented to the councillors at the regular monthly meeting on Monday evening, the monthly statement of receipts and payments of the Town of Vulcan still revealed tax collections at a low ebb. Payments still remain about the same level as previous months and the continuous drain has cut down the balance to $7,828.12. Town and business collections were practically the same, slightly over $104.00. School taxes brought in $361.95, hospital $18.93, tax consolidation $92.66, supplementary revenue $120. Largest of the other receipts was $67.25, being for cesspool fees. Licenses brought in $16.35, cemetery $37.50, rink $30.00. Various other small sums brought the total receipts up to $896.81. This sum, although small, is about twice the amount of collections made during the month of August. The total receipts for the month of August amounted to $453.59.

Payments for the month of September amounted to $3,047.96. As with every month the chief payment is Vulcan School District requisition, last month amounting to $1,800.00. Next in size was the payment for public works, $450.32. Statement of payments revealed $110.00 paid for the recent Elvies case. Direct relief cost the town $39.50 during September. Various routine payments made up the total.

The balance at the end of August was $10,077.37; at the end of September $7,828.12, a decrease of $2,249.25.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION

There has been much discussion as to whether or not proportional representation works out to the advantage of the electorate of a province. In the cities of Edmonton and Calgary, the recent provincial vote was taken in this manner. The Edmonton Journal shows that parties elected were a fair indication of the votes polled.

It is explained thus—The two cities were entitled to 12 seats, and 78-461 voters cast valid ballots. The results were as follows:

The Social Credit party, receiving 37,751 first choice votes, or within a few hundred of 50 per cent of the total vote, elected six members, or 50 per cent of the total representation.

The Liberals, receiving 22,033 first choices, or within 4,000 of one-third of the total votes, elected one-third of the members.

The Conservatives, receiving 10,775 first choices or within 2,300 of the one-sixth total vote, elected one-sixth of the members.

U.F.A., Labor, Communists and C. C.F. represented such a small minority of first choices that their supporters could not hope to elect a direct representative. But the 7,912 voters how did not cast ballots for Social Credit, Liberal or Conservative candidates were permitted, by recording second, third, fourth and further preferences, to have a voice in the final selection of candidates.

If ever final results in an election confirmed the proportionate desires of the electorate, those in Edmonton and Calgary last month did so. They were a real vindication of P.R.

SUPPER DISHES AUTUMN SEASON

Cool weather brings appetite for warm food. Creamed or sautéed food for supper is not only appetizing but has high food value because of the cream sauce foundation.

Suggestions for Scalloped Dishes

Use: 3 cups cooked chicken, veal, hame or any cooked fish; 1½ cups cooked meat or fish and 1½ cups cooked spaghetti or macaroni; 1½ cups meat or fish and 1½ cups green peas; 1½ cups meat and 1½ cups corn; 6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced or cut in pieces; 4 hard-cooked eggs and 2 cups cooked potatoes (diced), celery, corn or peas; 3 cups cooked vegetables (cauliflower, cabbage, potatoes, corn, spinach, asparagus, carrots, peas, string beans); 1½ cups carrots and 1½ cups potatoes; 3 cups cooked macaroni, spaghetti or rice; 1½ cups cooked macaroni or spaghetti and 1½ cups corn.

Scalloped Sauce—4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 3 cups cooked. Melt butter, blend flour, add milk gradually. When creamed use sauce alternately with layers of food in buttered bake dish. Cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake in hot oven till crumbs are nicely browned.

Creamed Dishes

All of the foods suggested for scalloped dishes may be served creamed, using the same proportion of sauce and solid food. In making a creamed dish the chopped meat, eggs, or whatever is being used is carefully added to the cream sauce and thoroughly heated. Creamed mixtures may be served on toast points, in croustades, in split tea biscuits, in pattie shells or in rings of mashed potato. Chopped parsley, grated cheese or paprika makes a simple, but effective, garnish.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY

On Wednesday evening of last week, in the hall of the United Church, the Vulcan Young people's Society re-organized for the fall and winter season. A good number were present at the gathering and seemed enthusiastic about the activities of the group. Officers were elected, as follows: president, Miss Eleanor Jenni John; vice-president, Miss Mabel McPherson; secretary, Miss Olive Hill; treasurer, Miss Kay McPherson. Chairmen of committees selected were: Mrs. Stott, social committee; Miss Mayme Lebeau, devotional committee; Miss Rose Hartwig, dramatic committee. It was decided that meetings be held every fortnight, on Wednesdays at 8 o'clock p.m. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, October 16th, when the committees will report on program activities for the season. A social will follow the business session. All young people are invited to attend.

FIREARMS NEED CAREFUL HANDLING

If the hunter with his gun will keep in his consciousness the fact that he has a weapon of great potential danger and will observe due precautions in handling his weapon at all times, the hunting season could pass without many of the accidents usually attendant upon the hunting activities of the fall season.

Common among causes of fatality and injury are: pulling guns through fences; guns knocked down by dogs; uncased loaded guns in automobiles; firing of guns through bottom of boat; accidental stopping up of barrels with dirt; leaving obstructions in barrels, such as cleaning rags, rods and the like; carelessness in handling guns by letting them explode with barrel ends under water; shooting at a moving object without seeing clearly; and firing at game without looking beyond it in the line of fire.

SOCIAL CREDIT MOVES ON TO U.S.A.

Social Credit groups are now being formed in a number of the States, the largest numbers being found in Texas, New York and Detroit. "The basic tenet of the new party" says the Detroit News, "is that national economy shall be conducted on the basis of financing consumption instead of production."

The American plan is more generous than Premier Aberhart's plan for Alberta. The program promises an income of $100 monthly, a home for life, better paid jobs, etc.

The Social Credit party, it is explained, claims that money must reflect accurately the real wealth of the nation. The real credit of the country is the capacity to produce needed goods and to so distribute these goods that individual poverty and unemployment will vanish.

Questioned as to the effect of the plan on banking, a Detroit group leader said: "It would mean that bankers would go out of business as controllers of the issue of money and credit, but the practical effect would be to increase tremendously their working personnel. Our plan is based on the law of plenty and the ability of people to consume."

It is planned to start party organizations throughout United States at once.

LIVESTOCK IN THIS PROVINCE

Live stock census of Alberta as taken by card survey in June of 1934 by the federal bureau of statistics shows a slight increase in cattle and some decrease in the hog population.

Hog population is shown as reduced from 896,000 head in June of 1934 to 809,100 in June of this year, but the December survey should show a considerable increase as a result of the expected increases in fall litters.

Cattle population shows an increase from 1,570,000 head to 1,604,200 head.

Horses are reduced from 698,300 head to 691,300 head. Sheep show a drop from 696,200 head to 639,600 head. Poultry total is 5,783,200 compared to 6,992,000 in 1934.
